

SPRING OF 2015

We have made it through winter!

And it wasn't an easy one.

Snow, ice, temperatures way below freezing and everything else Good Old Man Winter could throw at us.

Now we are fighting our way through the rains of April.
And the Kentucky flood of April 3rd that made national headlines.
Mud everywhere, washed out roads and driveways to the farm.

We are still caring for the Valentine's Thoroughbreds we took possession of in February.

Thanks to your and like minded animal lover's financial support, we brought in truck load after truck load of hay to feed this herd of 18 horses and a goat.

Our volunteers are heroes!!!!!!

They braved the weather and the mud and they got it done; every single day! Spring and summer will be so much easier on them and the horses.

Until we can find homes for these incredible animals, they need us to feed and hay them every day and provide veterinary and farrier care.

CAN WE CONTINUE TO COUNT ON YOUR HELP?

We brought Kay and her baby to our barn so they can get special nutrition and be constantly monitored by us and our vet.

Both are eating a LOT. And that's what we want.

They have a long way to go: feed, hay, medication to fight rain rot, deworming protocols to be adhered to, and, the baby boy will need to be gelded once he has regained some of his strength and learns to be handled.

Two weeks later: Kay is enjoying some time outside. She has been treated for rain rot and we have had her palpated to make sure she isn't pregnant again. Her eyes are so much brighter and she is feeling a lot better.

Motown Train, one of the Valentine's Day Thoroughbreds, has been adopted and went home to a farm near Lexington Kentucky. He will be loved, spoiled and given a new job.

Watch for him in the show ring!!!!

We have 16 more Thoroughbreds looking for that perfect home.

They could be your next project for showing, trail riding or just being your best friend. The sky is the limit with these incredible horses! Please contact us for more information and pictures at 859-472-0021 or
